3 次の文章を読んで、あとの(1)から(4)までの問いに答えなさい。

Things that were once difficult to do are now becoming easier for us with the progress of technology. For example, in the past, sending letters was almost the only way to communicate with others living far from us. At that time, people read books or magazines to get information and looked at maps to travel around the world. But now, we often use smartphones. This progress of technology is making our lives more convenient. Here are two examples which can make our lives more convenient and change our future.

One is solar panels. Solar panels today are very heavy and usually put on the ground or the roofs, but in the near future, thin, light and soft ones will be developed. Thanks to these features, the new type of solar panels can be attached to the surfaces of various things and provide us with a more efficient way to produce electricity. For example, if we put the solar panels on windows or walls, we can produce electricity in many places by using sunshine. (A), when solar panels are made, they need fewer materials and the process of making them releases less carbon dioxide. They are better for the environment and less expensive, so they are expected to play a large role in the future.

The other example is electric vehicles with automated driving technology. They are expected to decrease the number of traffic accidents and improve traffic flow. Drivers do not have to be so nervous while they are in this type of cars. If we use electric vehicles, we can decrease air pollution in our cities. By using electric vehicles and automated driving technology effectively, we can decrease damage to the environment.

These two examples . Of course, each of them has challenges we must get over. Solar panels are easily affected by weather, and we need to think about traffic laws carefully and change them. However, if we work together, we will live a more convenient, safer, and better life. So, let's make efforts to realize a better society in the future!

- 4 アメリカに留学中の明良 (Akira) が、同じクラスのブライアン (Brian) と話しています。次の対話文を読んで、あとの(1)から(4)までの問いに答えなさい。

Akira: Good morning, Brian.

Brian: Good morning, Akira. Are you enjoying life in the U.S.?

Akira: Of course! I've been here for three weeks and I'm enjoying life. When I was watching a football game with my host family on TV yesterday, I found Big Bay Amusement Park in a commercial.

Brian: It's very popular around here and it opened at the end of the 19th century.

Akira: It's so old! The amusement park of my city in Japan is about 30 years old.

Brian: Oh, really? Can you tell me ① the amusement park has?

Akira: Well, it has about 20 attractions and a lot of restaurants. It's called Future Park. I think it's a great place for amusement park fans. In addition, a new area opened last year.

Brian: Wow, sounds like fun. Big Bay Amusement Park has about the same number of attractions and I like riding some of them. It also has several restaurants and a swimming pool.

Akira: So I guess many people visit there in summer. Is there anything else that visitors can enjoy?

Brian: (A) One of them is the Great Dance Party. I think it's the most exciting event of all! The audience can join and dance with popular music there.

Akira: Sounds interesting! Future Park doesn't have many events. I like watching shows and dancing, so I'd love to go to Big Bay Amusement Park and join the events!

Brian: Why don't we go there this weekend? I want to ride some attractions with you.

Akira: Sure! This will be my first time going to an amusement park in the U.S., so I'm very ②.
